

Profectus Biosciences

Headquarters and
Research Labs

Tarrytown, New York

Leading Research Facility

On a limited budget and tight schedule, design a state-of-the-art research and development headquarters reflecting the new identity of a spin off company from a major pharmaceutical manufacturer.

Ideal Location

BAM worked closely with Profectus, the building owner and the selected construction manager to identify the most advantageous site - in size, floor plate, and reuse of existing infrastructure.

Rapid Growth

In a short time, the R+D headquarters has supported this startup to become an established player in the development of novel vaccine candidates to treat chronic viral infections with over $100 million in funding and private equity financing.

Photography © Albert Vecerka | Esto

